Protection of the rights of employees, temporary employees, and outsourced persons

The Company will not unfairly treat employees, temporary employees, or outsourced persons, whether through changes in position, nature of work, or location of work, suspension, threat, obstruction of work, termination of work, or any unfair act against such persons because they:

1. provide information, cooperation, assistance to the directors, executives, the public sector, or the monitoring agency if there is sufficient proof that a person has violated or abused any law, rule, regulation, code of business conduct, or principles of corporate governance.
2. give testimony, submit evidence, or provide assistance to the directors, executives, the public sector, or the monitoring agency that is useful in an investigation in the case where there is a suspicion of a violation or abuse of laws, rules, code of business conduct, or corporate governance.

Instructions and Mechanism for KCE Ethical Standards and Code of Conduct Handbook

KCE's personnel at every level must commit to and abide by KCE's Ethical Standards and Code of Business Ethics in carrying their daily duties and responsibilities. In case a failure to comply with these principles is discovered and is confirmed by the result of a fair investigation, KCE shall take disciplinary and/or legal action as appropriate in compliance with KCE's rules and regulations regarding personnel management. Superiors in the hierarchical structure of each department are responsible for overseeing and ensuring that their subordinates strictly follow KCE's Ethical Standards and Code of Business Ethics.

In case of a violation of the code, the manner of such violation, intention or intent, motive, age, record, position, duty and responsibility of the violator, including the damage caused and other significant reasons shall be taken into consideration.

Personnel of the Company who comply with their particular professional codes of ethics, e.g., engineers, accountants, doctors, pharmacists, and lawyers, must strictly adhere to their professional ethics as a part of KCE's Ethical Standards and Code of Business Ethics.

KCE personnel must keep in mind that the Company cannot specify written guidelines for every type of behavior, event or circumstance in the code of ethics handbook. If any Company personnel encounters a difficulty in decision-making or in conducting any action or operation, they shall first employ their own judgment before proceeding by asking the following questions:

- Is it against the law?
- Is it against KCE's policy, KCE's values, or harmful to KCE's reputation?
- Could it have any adverse effect on KCE's stakeholders?
- Could it initiate any undesired corporate culture in the future?

If the answer to any of the above questions is “yes”, they should refrain from engaging in the action.

Should any staff member have a doubt as to whether a certain action complies with the good practices or code of conduct presented in this handbook, they should seek advice from their colleagues or supervisors. Management is responsible for advising their subordinates or consulting with the Office of Internal Audit and the Company Secretary.
